- Networking with alumni

Junior and Senior Projects

• Stock Portfolio Management

The club actively manages $16,000 in stock investments through UBS. The money was earned through club activities over the last 20 years.

• Stock Challenge Grant

An anonymous parent has challenged our investment committee to beat the S&P 500 by more than $5,000 over the next six month. He will contribute to the club's investment kitty dollar for dollar.

• Green Initiative Analysis

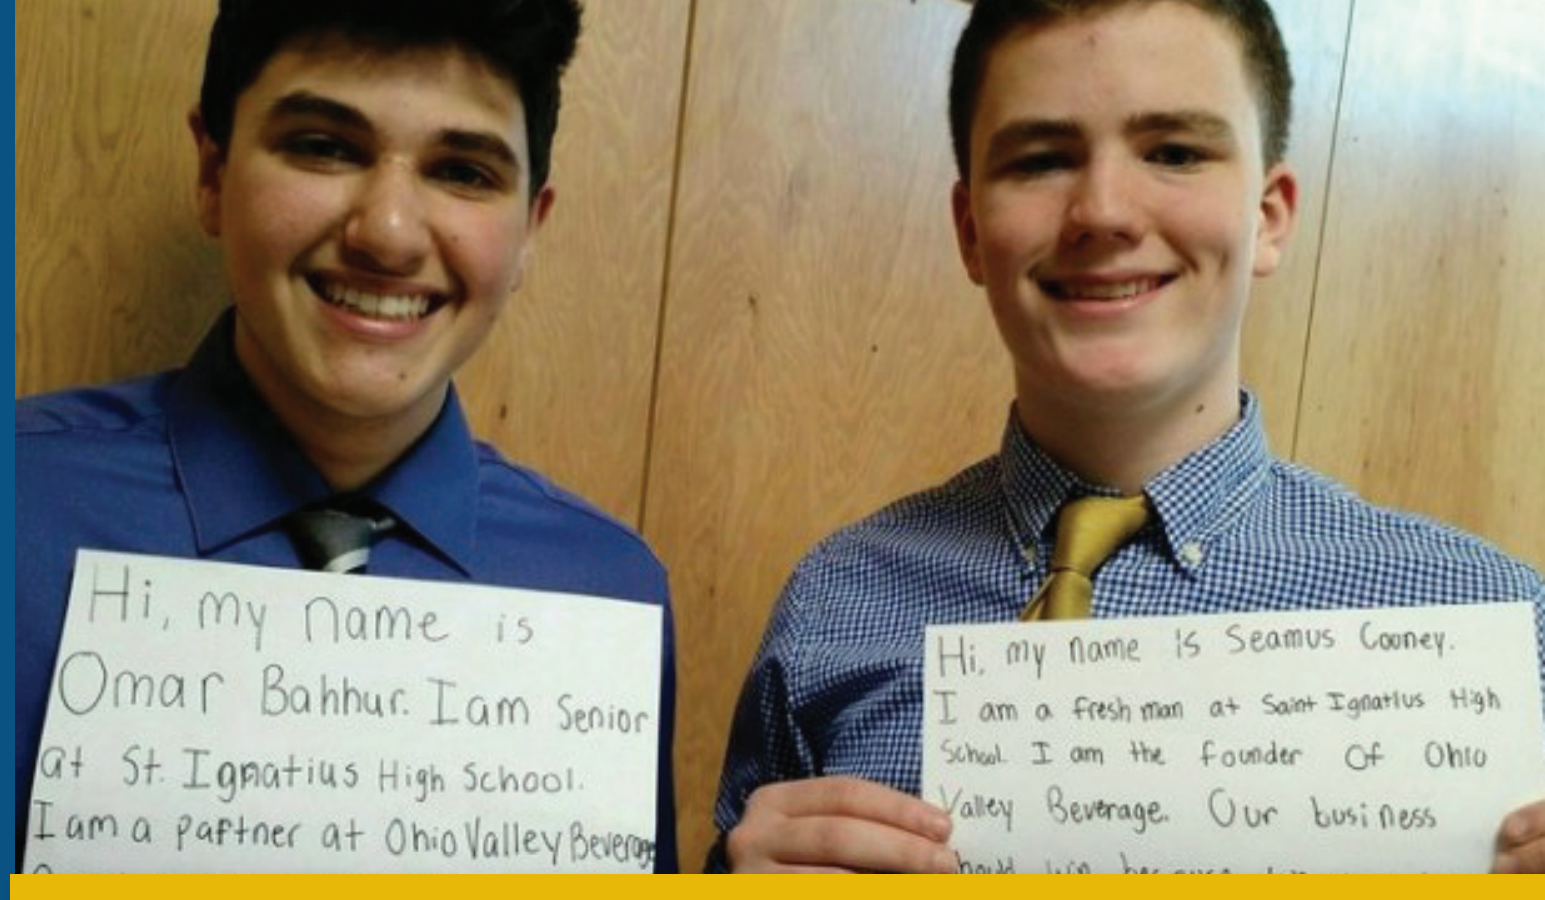

A committee of members will plan, review and prepare a report on the successes and failures of the school's strategic initiative to become more green.

• Sports Drone Feasibility Study

A committee of members will work with our Athletic and Communications Departments to test the feasibility of covering some sports events with a drone. They will need to address legal and governmental issues.

• Kalb Electric Market Analysis

A St. Louis based electrical services company is hiring a group of our members to assess the Cleveland area market. They will analyze the market, scout locations, create a marketing plan and submit to the owner.

Curriculum

Club activities and discussions follow the curriculum of the Entrepreneur Studies class.

This ensures that every student be exposed to the core content of an introductory entrepreneurship class.

Classes:

- Entrepreneur Studies
- Standard Economics
- Economics Forum (college-style class)
- AP Economics (Micro Economics and Macroeconomics)
- Personal finance (self-guided online course created by Ignatius faculty to fulfill state requirement)

In order to be vested in the program and earn the graduation credential, a student must achieve the following:

- Attend club meetings whenever possible.
- Participate in our business plan and stock game competitions.
- Take two of the following three classes and score a “B-“ or higher:
 - Entrepreneur Studies
 - Standard Economics
 - Economics Forum
 - AP Economics

Primary Activities

Club Meetings

A weekly meeting on Tuesday after school. Accentuated by guest speakers, field trips and projects.

Paid Internships

Students are paired with an alumnus entrepreneur and work for four weeks. The club pays each student $1,000 for the four-week period.

Ignatius Shark Tank

Alumni judges come back to campus to judge our students and their pitches. Between $1,000 and $1,500 given to students to accelerate their business growth.

Campus-Wide Stock Contest

Twice a year, a semester-long stock competition allows students to play the market in our $100,000 Challenge. Students play for extra credit and cash prizes.

Strategic Community Partnerships

Students serve as ambassadors and aids for other incubator organizations like Social Venture Partners and Sea Change. Distinguished alumni often volunteer for these activities.
